2010 Year In Review

"Serving Since 1873"

New Westminster Police Department 1881

Mayor
Wayne Wright

Message From the Police Board Chair

As Mayor of New Westminster and Chair of the New Westminster Police Board, I am constantly impressed by our outstanding police service and volunteers for their tireless efforts to keep our citizens and city safe. Crime statistics have been steadily declining in recent years and 2010 was no exception, as calls for service noticeably decreased - proof that proactive enforcement and new crime prevention initiatives are working.

We can also take pride in New Westminster Police Services' role in policing the 2010 Olympic Games and the Olympic Torch Relay, as they took part in making history. Our police service continued to contribute positively to the community by hosting the NWPS 30th Annual Soccer Camp, bringing police officers and youth together for a week filled with fun.

In 2010, we welcomed two new NWPB members - Rebecca Maurer and Allan Domaas - and bid farewell to Carol-Ann Hart and Kim Husband who finished their terms. I'd like to express my gratitude to all board members for their leadership and efforts on behalf of our community.

As we look forward to the future, we do so knowing that our city is well-served by a police service that continually strives to better our community and address the policing needs of our citizens with commitment and pride.

Chief Constable's Message

The New Westminster Police Service's vision and commitment to being "Leaders in Policing" continued throughout 2010. Our involvement within the community and the region was perhaps best highlighted by the Olympic games that featured the local Torch Run, and our member's assistance in policing various venues and events as the games occurred. This is but one example of where our members have worked hard to achieve success on behalf of the City of New Westminster and the Police Service.

Chief Constable
Dave Jones

With a significant number of new developments and projects occurring within the city, the Police Service looks forward to building on the relationships we have developed with the community and other agencies. Preparing for this growth is important; over the past 10 years the city has seen a significant reduction in crime statistics, and it is important to work hard in maintaining these achievements. Our commitment is not about individual achievement, but is instead, based on team work, and succeeding on behalf of the community as we strive to make New Westminster an enjoyable place to live, work and play.

30th Annual Police Summer Soccer School

The 30th Annual Police Summer Soccer School was held in July 2010. The school is a unique recreation program that brings together police officers and youth for a fun filled week. The program saw over 300 children aged 5 to 10 yrs. participate over a five day period. 80 coaches, comprised of police officers and volunteers (including community soccer players and graduates of the soccer school) donated their time to ensure that the event was fun and educational for all participants. The soccer school was first introduced back in 1981, and has become a flagship community program for the police service.

Although soccer instruction is the foundation of this program, the participants are exposed to many other activities throughout the week. These include a demonstration from the Police Service Dog Section, an orientation of various police vehicles and a visit from the New Westminster Fire Department.

We wish to thank all those who have volunteered over the past 30 years to make this this program a great success.

Keith Logan Memorial Golf Tournament

Keith Logan was a current serving member who succumbed to cancer in 2007. At the memorial tournament, over $10,000 was raised to assist the Crossroads Hospice Society. Crossroads provided loving care and support to Keith and his family during the last days of his life.

Victim Services

Every parent's nightmare is that they will be involved in a motor vehicle accident with their children in the car. Victim Services was called to Royal Columbian Hospital to assist after a woman and her 5 year daughter were hit by an oncoming vehicle. Fortunately, the little girl was physically uninjured but she remained very frightened and upset. Her mummy needed medical attention for cuts and scrapes along with x-rays and casting for a broken wrist. No other family members could be reached to attend. With the help of a trauma bear, hot chocolate and a cookie, we chatted and played games with the child for three hours while her mother received the medical care she needed. At the end of this ordeal, we drove them home from the hospital and received warm hugs of appreciation from both.

Imagine returning to your home to find your back door ajar, cupboards and drawers opened and overturned with all your possessions strewn about the house. This happened to a New Westminster family. Although the mother didn't speak English, she knew to call 911 and waited, terrified and upset, in her car with her crying children until the Police arrived. Victim Services attended, and fortunately, the worker spoke the language. We supported the family emotionally, helping to reduce their fear. We assisted them to make arrangements for the clean-up and gave tips on safety planning and home security. So the family would not be alone, we waited until Dad could be located and returned home. The impact on the family of this very upsetting break and enter was lessened somewhat by the support and practical assistance provided by Victim Services.

Police located a very tired and confused senior at the Skytrain Station. Clearly, the elderly gentleman had walked a long distance and needed a ride home.

Victim Services was called to assist. Fortunately, the gentleman knew his address and we drove him home. Upon pulling into the driveway, we were met by the man's very relieved, yet seemingly surprised, son. It turned out this was no longer the gentleman's home as the family had moved to out of the city 10 years earlier! Fortunately for all, the son had expanded his search for dad far and wide, including the old home in New Westminster. The outcome here was a happy reunion for this family, and Victim Services was pleased to assist in a small but significant way.

Volunteers Make a Difference

Crime Prevention Volunteers participated in 42 different community events in New Westminster over the course of 2010. The year started off with the Winter Olympic Torch Relay with 21 volunteers assisting with road closures, parking, pedestrian safety, and being an extra set of “eyes and ears” for New Westminster Police. It is difficult to top a prestigious event such as the Olympics coming to town, but in May, the Volunteer Bicycle Patrol Team came together to assist with a historic event, Freedom of the City Ceremony. Volunteers were proud to be part of the celebration in recognition of the 100th anniversary of the Canadian Navy upon HMCS Discovery. While the volunteers were positioned at road closures, the proudest moment was standing with the Mayor and the Police Chief during the official ceremony. The year ended with the New Westminster Police Adopt-A-Family Hamper Program. Each year for the last 30 years, New Westminster Police have supported several low-income families living in New Westminster during the holiday season. With the assistance of volunteers, food, clothing, and gift hampers are assembled and then delivered to the local families. This is an example of how police members, civilian staff, and volunteers work together to improve the lives of citizens in our community.

Volunteers partake in many diverse community initiatives and are inspired by the uniqueness of each event and how it affects New Westminster. The New Westminster Police Service is fortunate to have such dedicated and passionate volunteers that actively contribute to our successful City. Crime Prevention Volunteers are the link with our community.

We're Here For You

Police officers have many duties to fulfill everyday. The media often portrays an average officer to be in full time action, fighting against criminals and engaging in car chases, but this is just a minority of what we do. The aim of policing is to prevent crime; to pursue and bring to justice those who break the law; to keep the peace; and to protect, help and reassure the community. Our officers are dedicated to making New Westminster a safe and friendly environment to live. Our goal is not just crime prevention and law enforcement, we want you to know that "we're here for you." Below is a letter of appreciation reflecting our commitment to the community.

Dear Chief:

I would like to personally thank and show my appreciation to the New Westminster Police Department and specifically Constable Jeff White for the prompt action and support I received on April 6, 2010.

I received an emergent call from Surrey Hospital regarding a young woman who had suffered a cardiac arrest due to a massive pulmonary embolus and was in their ER having CPR. Her only hope at survival was a potential surgical rescue requiring cardiac surgical support. I was at Royal Columbian Hospital where cardiac surgery is provided in the region and needed to get to Surrey Hospital within minutes during rush hour which would not be possible.

Your police department was contacted and immediately agreed to provide transport for me to Surrey without any delay or any "red tape". Constable White came in his police cruiser to RCH and delivered me to Surrey Hospital in the fastest yet safest manner possible.

This allowed us to treat the lady to give her a chance at survival. I am happy to report that she survived and is now making an excellent recovery.

This was truly a case where, simply, what needed to be done got done by everyone.

On behalf of the patient and the cardiac and thoracic surgeons I would like to again thank your department and Constable Jeff White for their outstanding effort.

Sincerely,

S. Karim, Chief, Cardiac Surgery Dept. RCH

Serving Since 1873

Police in New Westminster have a mission that they face:
To prevent and to reduce the risk of crime.
And many in the service have a passion they embrace;
That the goal of helping citizens is prime.

Police in New Westminster know community is key.
They're the public and the public are police.
They want the city safer and a friendly place to be
And prefer to settle dissonance with peace.

Police in New Westminster try consistently to show
Diplomacy and common sense and tact.
But have the strength and knowledge and the fearlessness to know
When in need against aggression how to act.

Community involvement is essential for success:
Education and awareness makes us strong.
The programs target dangers and reduction of distress.
Many volunteers are helping all along.

Police in New Westminster serve the public without pause.
With commitment and enthusiasm give
Exemplary policing for enforcement of the laws
So we all can have a safer place to live.

Susan McLeod (Local Resident)

2010 Olympic Games

2010 brought a unique, and once in a career, set of challenges for policing as the Winter Olympic Games arrived in the Vancouver area.

While facing a need to provide a large number of our members to the Olympic Games Security, there were those who remained here in New Westminster to ensure the safety of our community. Not only were we faced with working without the opportunity to take time off, but we brought together one of our largest ever celebrations when the Olympic Torch Relay arrived here in February. Our ability as an organization to provide the resources and opportunity for 25 of our members to work at the Olympic venues was made possible by those who remained here during this time.

Our members who took on the task of working at the Olympic Games showed a work effort and performance that represented the Police Service in an exceptional manner. We recognize that there were challenges that were faced to work effectively within such a large and varied integrated unit; however, the Olympic experiences were positive and ones that will not be forgotten.

Each and every member should be commended, not only for making the games a success, but in seamlessly and efficiently keeping the Police Service running smoothly through this time period.

Anthony J. Hulme Award of Distinction

During the annual Crime Prevention Association Symposium held in Surrey on November 5th & 6th, Constable Bruce Ballingall was the recipient of B.C.'s highest honour in community safety and crime prevention for his outstanding contribution and extraordinary dedication to helping make B.C. communities a better place to live. On this date, Solicitor General Rich Coleman presented Bruce the Anthony J. Hulme Award of Distinction.

“For over 30 years, Constable Ballingall has chosen to lead by example when it comes to crime prevention in his community,” said Coleman. “His dedication and level of involvement with numerous volunteer organizations have earned him the respect and admiration of his peers, the residents of New Westminster and of British Columbia.”

Bruce has been widely recognized for his contributions to community policing. Over the years, he has led the implementation of crime prevention programs such as Graffiti Eradication, Citizens on Patrol and Block Watch, and partnered with community organizations and volunteers to ensure success. He has also been a long-time member of the B.C. Crime Prevention Association.
